Independent Sector Welcomes Capital Funding

The Independent Schools Council of Australia (ISCA) has welcomed the Government's announcement today of a significant investment in capital projects for schools.

ISCA's Executive Director Mr Bill Daniels said, "ISCA supports the inclusive nature of the Building the Education Revolution package which means that all schools will be eligible for capital funding regardless of the ownership of the school."

"We acknowledge that the Government's substantial investment in capital infrastructure will greatly benefit independent school communities across Australia."

"This funding will assist independent school communities in building, upgrading and maintaining their school buildings."

"I am certain that the parents who pay for the majority of capital developments in independent schools through fees and other contributions will welcome this additional support for their children's education," said Mr Daniels.
